Elizabeth Catlett's art in the eyes of WMAHS students

WMAHS 2D Art Classes Celebrate Black History Month

Mr. Mann and Mrs. Rowe's 2D Art classes combined history and art to celebrate various African American artists during the month of February. Students were placed in groups to complete the five foot canvases. Each group chose an artist from the past or present that reflected African American art in society. The students had to research facts about their chosen artist, and include the facts with a photograph of the artist. The students hope that their peers enjoy the art, and also learn new facts about people who influenced America through art and culture.

PUTTING IT ALL TOGETHER IN GENERAL MUSIC

In Ms. Berad's 7th grade music classes, students worked on creating a concept for a music album, creating their own album covers and T-Shirt designs, answering questions about their choices, and composing music for one of their song selections into Garage Band. They also work on their note reading and piano skills with various exercises and songs in Piano Maestro.

In Ms. Berad's 8th grade music classes, students worked on designing their own video game concept and setting each scene to a specific style of music, composing their final music selections in Garage Band.

Welcome to the Jungle!

During the cold months of January, 5th grade students in Mrs. Dinovitz's art classes at the middle school explored the tropical art of Henri Rousseau (France, 1844-1910) by creating their own colorful rainforest art works. Art concepts such as line, texture and overlapping were taught to help create the up close view of their creatures.

High School Artists of the Month

Congratulations to the following students who are recognized as students of the month. The artist's work is put on display in the main office of the high school, and on Mr. Mann's & Mrs. Rowe's web pages on www.wmasd.org. The artist receives a Certificate of Excellence and a gift related to the field of art.
